Pakistan army troops arrive on Sunday to conduct a rescue operation at the site of Saturday's massive truck bombing at Marriott Hotel in Islamabad, Pakistan. AP

TAG-TEAM OPERATION?

AL QAEDA, TALIBAN SUSPECTED IN PAKISTAN HOTEL BOMBING THAT KILLED AT LEAST 53

Associated Press

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan Taliban militants based near the Afghan border and their Al Qaeda allies are the most likely suspects behind a massive truck bombing at Islamabad's Marriott Hotel, officials and experts said Sunday. At least 53 died in the explosion, including two U.S. Defense Department employees and the Czech ambassador.

The truck sat burning and disabled at the hotel gate for at least 3 1/2 minutes as nervous guards tried to douse the flames before they, the truck and much of the hotel forecourt vanished in a fearsome fireball on Saturday night, according to dramatic surveillance footage released Sunday.

The attack on the American hotel chain during Ramadan, among the deadliest terrorist strikes in Pakistan, will test the resolve of its pro-Western civilian rulers to crack down on growing violent extremism that many here blame on the country's role in the U.S.-led war on terror.

SUICIDE BOMBING

Pakistan's deadliest suicide bombing was on Oct. 18, 2007, and targeted ex-Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto—President Asif Ali Zardari's wife—who survived. It killed about 150 people in Karachi during celebrations welcoming her home from exile.

While no group has claimed responsibility, the scale of the blast and its high-profile target were seen by many as the signature of media-savvy Al Qaeda.

Interior Ministry chief Rehman Malik said "all roads lead to FATA" in major Pakistani suicide attacks—referring to Federally Administered Tribal Areas, where U.S. officials worry that Osama bin Laden and Al Qaeda No. 2 Ayman al-Zawahri are hiding.

Mahmood Shah, a former government security chief for Pakistan's tribal areas, said that while the attack had "all the signatures" of an Al Qaeda strike, homegrown Taliban militants probably had learned how to execute an attack of such magnitude.

Al Qaeda was providing "money, motivation, direction and all sort of leadership and using the Taliban as gun fodder," he suggested.

A Pakistani intelligence official, speaking on condition of anonymity because he is not authorized to speak on the record to media, said investigators were examining just that theory.

Rescue teams searched the blackened hotel room by room Sunday, finding several more bodies, and Gilani said the death toll had risen to 53. A Danish diplomat was also listed as missing and rescue workers said they expected to find more human remains.

The $700 billion rescue

Associated Press

WASHINGTON Treasury Secretary Henry Paulson said Sunday that the nation's credit markets remain frozen and Congress must move quickly to pass a $700 billion bailout package for financial firms. But key Democrats said the legislation needs changes to provide better protections for taxpayers and homeowners in danger of losing their homes.

"The credit markets are still very fragile right now and frozen," Paulson said in an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press." "We need to deal with this and deal with it quickly."

Can't wrap your head around $700 billion? Try this. Even allowing for inflation and in the context of federal spending standards, $700 billion represents more than $2,000 for every man, woman and child in the U.S.

To put it another way, $700 billion is more than the gross domestic products of Argentina and Chile combined, according to current almanacs.

The sum is roughly what the Pentagon expects to spend in the fiscal year that ends Sept. 30, including the costs of the campaigns in Iraq and Afghanistan, according to the Center for Arms Control and Non-Proliferation, a research group in Washington, which cited figures from the Congressional Research Service and Office of Management and Budget data.

The arms-control research group calculates the U.S. spent $670 billion (in 2007 dollars) on the war in Vietnam. And yet another way to look at it is that $700 billion is more than 40 times what NASA will spend this fiscal year.

TIME TO BAIL

A look at the recent U.S. government interventions and bailouts:

March 16—The Federal Reserve agrees to guarantee $29 billion of Bear Stearns' assets in connection with the government-sponsored sale of the investment bank.

July 11—Federal regulators seize IndyMac Bank's assets. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. says it will cost about $8.9 billion out of its $53 billion insurance fund.

Sept. 7—The Treasury Department seizes Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, with plans to inject up to $100 billion into each.

Tuesday—The government announces an $85 billion emergency loan to rescue American International Group in return for a 79.9 percent stake in AIG.

Players and stars celebrate Cubs 'W'

It was all about the Cubs this weekend after the team clinched the National League Central Division title on Saturday.

The team toasted its victory during dinner at Joe's Stone Crab, and later that night many of the players—including Ted Lilly, Ryan Dempster, Ryan Theriot, Kerry Wood, Mark DeRosa, Sean Marshall, Angel Guzman, Bob Howry and Jeff Samardzija—headed to Stanley's.

The players were greeted with Cubs signs, decorations sporting the team colors and a packed house full of screaming fans.

The team's success also attracted celebrities over the weekend. Vince Vaughn threw out the first pitch Saturday. He brought along a mystery brunet to Wrigley Field, and he hung out in the dugout with the players before the game. Longtime Cubs fan Jim Belushi attended Sunday's game.

Super Mario

I attended "Extra's" 15th anniversary party at The Stork in Hollywood on Wednesday night. It was hosted by the show's new host, Mario Lopez. I talked to Lopez about his new gig and asked him about his dream interview. "Sarah Palin," Lopez said. "I like her!" Joe Francis, Joey Fatone and Jackie Warner were among the celebrities who attended the bash.

Magnificent mag

Cindy Crawford hosted the red-carpet launch party for Michigan Avenue magazine on Saturday night at the James Hotel. Verne Troyer (a.k.a. Mini Me), Michelle Williams of Destiny's Child fame and Terrence Howard were a few of the celebs in attendance. Troyer arrived on the red carpet riding a scooter. Crawford and Williams chatted on the red carpet about their Chicago beginnings, and Howard told reporters that his friends Heidi Klum and Seal inspired him to write a song about commitment. During the bash, Crawford talked about posing for the cover of the magazine's first issue, and Williams performed.

SIGHTINGS

"90210" star Ryan Eggold celebrated the Joffrey Ballet's new home at a cocktail party at Joffrey Tower on Monday night. >> Dave Navarro rocked out at Manor on Thursday night. >> Verne Troyer had lunch at ESPN Zone on Friday.

Runners and walkers walk Sunday on O'Hare's new runway. NANCY STONE/ TRIBUNE

Project runway

O'Hare's new landing strip set to begin operating on Nov. 20

Chicago Tribune

The first new runway built at O'Hare in 37 years served as a festive running track on Sunday, but Chicago aviation officials still must complete a marathon full of obstacles before taking a victory lap.

On the northern edge of O'Hare, a safe distance from jets landing and taking off, several thousand runners, walkers and shutterbugs turned out for "Community Day" to mark the completion of new runway 9 Left/27 Right, set to open in two months.

The highlight of the day was the Athens Sister City Shuffle 5K on the Runway.

It was a race to raise funds for a project called "The Runners," a sculpture of five runners "emerging from antiquity to meet the present." When completed, the sculpture will be installed along Interstate 190, the highway leading to O'Hare.

Runway 9 Left/27 Right is scheduled to begin operating on Nov. 20 along with a new air-traffic control tower built to direct traffic on the so-called bad-weather landing strip, which is intended to help ease O'Hare's notorious flight delays.

But the airline industry has so far refused to help Chicago pay for the bulk of the O'Hare Modernization Program, which Mayor Daley wants completed before the 2016 Olympics that the city hopes to host.

City officials are struggling in tumultuous economic times to arrange private financing for new runways, terminals and other improvements.

The cloudy future comes on top of delays to the project caused partly by lawsuits from anti-expansion forces that threaten to drive up costs.

Pop quiz

Books and browser windows closed. Today's quiz is all about O'Hare. And because RedEye is feeling generous on a Monday, take as much time as you need to complete it.

1. To cover 5 kilometers, how many times did the runners and walkers travel the length of the new 7,500-foot runway?

- A. Five
- B. Two
- C. Less than two

2. If the White House accepts Mayor Daley's invitation for President Bush's plane to make the inaugural landing on the new runway in November, Bush will fly to Chicago on:

- A. One of the two Boeing 747s outfitted as the flying Oval Office
- B. Air Force One
- C. A Federal Aviation Administration plane

3. The biggest problem with most of the runways at O'Hare is:

- A. They're too short to accommodate modern airplanes.
- B. Potholes.
- C. They intersect, causing delays and the potential for collisions.

4. As part of the airport reconstruction, how much dirt have contractors dug up?:

- A. More than 14 million cubic yards
- B. Almost 2 billion cubic yards
- C. Enough to fill nearly all the backyards in Bensenville

5. When the new runway opens, it is projected to reduce the average flight delay from 16.2 minutes per plane to:

- A. Zero
- B. 15.5 minutes
- C. 5 minutes

QUIZ ANSWERS:

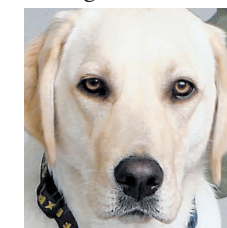

- 1: C. (5K equals more than 16,000 feet.)
- 2: B. (Any plane carrying the President is designated as Air Force One. It's considered unlikely his Boeing 747 would land on a runway that is shorter than 10,000 feet.)
- 3: C.
- 4: A.
- 5: B. (That's not much. Significant reductions in flight delays are possible only if the O'Hare project is completed.)

Canine agent passes smell test

Associated Press

Meet Chris. He has a nose for trouble.

The frisky, yellow Labrador retriever (below) is the newest sleuth to join the crime-fighting team in the Chicago office of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives.

With his sensitive and highly trained nose,

Chris doesn't just sniff out a hidden bomb.

He finds a place where explosives used to be stored—even after they have been removed.

"Chris can smell things that we can't even see," says Donald Sorzano, assistant special agent in charge of ATF's Chicago office.

On a recent morning, ATF put on a demonstration.

Chris roamed a large room within the ATF's Chicago office, sniffing.

He stopped at a black valise propped against a wall. His handler, veteran ATF Special Agent John Boskovich, had hidden a revolver in it. There were no shells in the pistol and therefore no visible gunpowder for Chris to smell.

But there were traces. And that was enough.

Next, Chris parked himself quietly beside a closet door. Behind the door were two sticks of dynamite.

Both times he was rewarded with a snack.

Some 130 ATF trained dogs similar to Chris are in service nationwide. Many have been trained by the ATF and turned over to local police departments, including one in the Kane County community of Yorkville.

Boy, 6, mauled by dogs

An East Garfield Park boy remained hospitalized Saturday after undergoing plastic surgery, while his family tried to understand why a neighbor's dogs attacked the 6-year-old. Two of the dogs were shot and killed by police and a third is being held by animal control. The incident began Friday night, when Trayshawn Toliver was retrieving a ball that had gone into a neighbor's yard in the 500 block of North Lawndale Avenue. That's when the dogs attacked.

Car hits steamroller on Edens

A person was flown to a Park Ridge hospital after a Saturday morning crash on the Edens Expressway, an Illinois State Police spokesman said. A car hit a construction steamroller about 4:30 a.m. in the northbound lanes of the expressway near Dundee Road, said Illinois State Police Master Sgt. Rene Benavidez. Traffic was blocked in both directions until about 6:25 a.m., Benavidez said.

Beating death investigated

Chicago police are investigating the beating death of a 41-year-old man on the 3800 block of West 47th Street, officials said Sunday. Robert Ulmer, 41, of the 4000 block of South Maplewood Avenue, received blunt trauma to the head by attackers about 1 a.m. Sunday after an argument turned physical. He was taken to Stroger Hospital in critical condition, said officer John Henry, but died several hours later.

Motorcycle crash kills man

A 33-year-old Chicago man died in a motorcycle crash on the Racine Avenue exit ramp of the Kennedy Expressway late Saturday, police said. Edward Massas of the 800 block of West Adams Street was ejected from his motorcycle after losing control at 700 N. Racine Ave. about 11:30 p.m. No other vehicles were involved, police said. Massas was not wearing a helmet, according to the Cook County medical examiner's office.

Helicopter crashes through roof

A helicopter crashed through the roof of a house in Kenosha on Sunday, killing the two people on board but leaving the family inside the house unharmed. Five people were in the house when the helicopter crashed at about 5:30 a.m. Sunday about one mile south of Kenosha Airport, police said.

Bones of missing man found

The bones of a suburban Chicago man missing since 1995 have been found in a mass grave in Fort Myers, Fla. The bones were among skeletons belonging to eight people first discovered in March 2007. Authorities say one skeleton matches the DNA of John James Tihay, who lived near Aurora. He was 25 when he disappeared. The eight deaths have been ruled homicides. Authorities have not said how the victims died, citing the ongoing investigation.

New Hindu temple opens

A Hindu temple that devotees say was 114 years in the making opened in southwest suburban Homer Glen on Sunday.

Since 1967, the Vivekananda Vedanta Society has been in Hyde Park, but growing membership, a lack of parking at the old site, an increasing percentage of members who live in the suburbs and a desire to fulfill the teachings of Swami Vivekananda led the society to build a new temple, society spokesman Frank Parlato said.

Swami Vivekenanda—famous in India for a speech he gave at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair and his push back home for independence, work that reportedly inspired Mohandas Gandhi—referred in his writings to a "Universal Temple" that would teach meditation and the spiritual discipline of yoga to anyone from any faith for free, said Parlato, a practicing Hindu. No religious ceremonies or rituals will be performed at the new temple.

More than 300 people gathered on Sunday at the 32,000-square-foot temple, a mix of prairie-style and classic Hindu architecture, to see the new shrine room consecrated by a priest dressed in white, who burned incense while surrounded by seated monks in ochre robes, Parlato said.

Five sacred images from the Hyde Park shrine were transferred to the new temple, he said, and the swamies moved into their new quarters there on Sunday.

"It has a symbolism behind it. It's transferring the universal energy into the shrine at this particular location," Parlato said.

"This was conceived 114 years ago and now has come to fruition."

The temple, set on 15 acres, has a library, meditation area and book store.

Chicago organizer talks about gangs

Jose "Cha-Cha" Jimenez returned to his Chicago roots on Sunday, speaking to an audience of more than 200 gathered in a modest Humboldt Park church about the role played by a one-time street gang, the Young Lords, as a force for community and political activism during the turbulent 1960s.

As part of a program remembering the Young Lords, which Jimenez helped form into a community activist group in 1968, speakers said that some of the issues that the Young Lords dealt with still exist today. Their brand of community activism is needed now more than ever, speakers said.

Jimenez, who lives in Cleveland now, said gang violence is perpetuated in part by a lack of direction.

"They don't have any leadership to show them a different way," Jimenez told the group gathered at San Lucas United Church of Christ. "Like when we had the Young Lords and the Black Panthers."

Gentrification changed Lincoln Park where the Young Lords evolved, and Jimenez said he sees that happening now in Humboldt Park.

For years, Puerto Ricans and other minorities had been displaced from gentrifying neighborhoods such as Lincoln Park and Wicker Park. In 1968, the Young Lords took matters into their own hands when they briefly took over a neighborhood church basement and other buildings—installing food programs and other services. It became a rallying call for community building in Chicago, New York and several other cities.

Museum officials hope to rebuild

Standing outside the charred remains of the Chinese-American Museum of Chicago where the smell of burnt 19th Century robes, photographs and countless other artifacts wafted through the air, officials Sunday vowed to rebuild.

"We are all saddened by this event. But we have to take a deep breath and pull ourselves together," said Raymond Lee, who just three years ago helped to buy the property at 238 W. 23rd St. in order to give Chicago's Chinese-American community a place to preserve its history.

The cause of Friday's fire remains under investigation, said Kim K. Tee, president of the Chinatown Museum Foundation.

Museum officials said they hope to have it back up and running within a year.

Most of the museum's permanent collections, including 23 historic dioramas, antique embroidered wall hangings and a Peking Opera costume, were lost in the blaze.

Staff from the Chicago History Museum and Field Museum worked with volunteers much of the weekend to help salvage artifacts.

"We didn't know how to deal with a disaster like this," said Andrea Stamm, a member of the Chinatown Museum Foundation board.

Obama preparing for debates

7 CHARLOTTE Democratic presidential nominee Barack Obama planned to head to Florida this week for three days of preparation for the first debate of the general election, a matchup that could reshape a tight White House race.

Aides say the debate, scheduled for Friday at the University of Mississippi and focused on foreign policy, will give Obama a chance to demonstrate proficiency in an area where polls have shown voters give the edge to Sen. John McCain, the Republican challenger and a 26-year Washington veteran who touts his ties to leaders around the world.

POLL POSITION

John McCain has a slight lead over Barack Obama, says a Miami Herald/St. Petersburg Times/Bay News 9 poll.

McCain	Obama
47%	45%

Obama and McCain are scheduled to debate three times between Friday and Oct. 15, sandwiched around one matchup between their running mates, Sen. Joe Biden and Alaska Gov. Sarah Palin.

But the opening presidential debate traditionally sets the tone for voters and it's often difficult for a candidate to overcome a poor performance.

This debate also comes as the financial markets remain turbulent and the campaign rhetoric has shifted from foreign issues to domestic and economic concerns.

If Obama can hold his own on foreign policy, it could ease those worries, aides said Sunday as they tried to lower expectations for the first-term Illinois senator, a powerful speaker but an uneven performer in multiple debates during the Democratic primaries.

Alaska may not have a Bridge to Nowhere, but it now has a Road to Nowhere. The bridge project became the symbol of federal largess, and Congress eventually dropped the earmark for the bridge.

THEY SAID IT

Griese's revenge

Bears witness another stunning Griese comeback—this time as victims

Associated Press

For one brief moment, Brian Griese acknowledged a little extra satisfaction.

He refused to take shots at his former team during the week, but landed a big one at the last moment on a day when he was off target.

"I can't lie to you guys," he said. "The game meant a lot to me, personally, coming back."

Griese set up Matt Bryant's winning 21-yard field goal in overtime with a 38-yard pass to Antonio Bryant, and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers rallied to beat the Chicago Bears 27-24 on Sunday.

After blowing a 14-point lead in a 20-17 loss at Carolina last week, the Bears couldn't protect a 24-14 advantage in the fourth quarter.

The Buccaneers got a 35-yard field goal from Matt Bryant with 3:11 left, and Griese orchestrated a 79-yard touchdown drive in the final 1:49, hitting Jeramy Stevens with a 1-yard pass in the closing seconds of regulation. Several key mistakes cost Chicago (1-2) in overtime.

After Tampa Bay (2-1) punted, Rashied Davis dropped a third-down pass near the Buccaneers 35. Tampa Bay then took over at its own 7 and had third-and-9 at the 8 when Griese hit Stevens with a 2-yard pass.

There was a pileup and Charles Tillman jumped in late, leading to an unnecessary roughness penalty that gave the Buccaneers a first down at the 24. Tampa Bay was at the Chicago 44 when Antonio Bryant beat Nathan Vasher for a 38-yard pass that set up the winning field goal.

"It was a costly mistake on my part," said Tillman, who had a shoving match with Tampa Bay's Donald Penn after the game's first play from scrimmage.

Griese said he "kept preaching" that his teammates maintain their focus after that skirmish and "it ended up paying off for us," he said.

The Buccaneers were leading 14-9 when Vasher picked off Griese midway through the third quarter, and the Bears immediately grabbed the lead.

Bears QB Kyle Orton ends up in a pile after he ran for a first down in the second half on Sunday during the home opener against the Buccaneers. JOHN SMIERCIAK/TRIBUNE

Blame game

Football is often referred to as a game of chess, with offensive and defensive coordinators pitting schemes and personnel against each other like pawns. But why stop with that board game? If Bears fans want to play the game with Sunday’s loss, RedEye has a few recommendations. AP CONTRIBUTED.

Tillman

a third-down completion by Brian Griese came short of a first down. You know the rest. Griese connected with Antonio Bryant on a 38-yard pass that set up the winning field goal.

Recommended board games: Clue (as in get one), Boggle (as in his play boggles the mind)

Orton

45 yards by Gaines Adams for a TD. Recommended board games: Connect Four (as in connect on four consecutive pass attempts), Risk

What happened: Charles Tillman jumped in the tail end of a pileup and drew an unnecessary roughness penalty that gave the Buccaneers a first down—after

What happened: Kyle Orton had two costly interceptions. The Bears starter had one pass intercepted in the end zone by Barrett Ruud and another returned

What happened: The defense let the Bucs offense cap off a 70-yard drive with a touchdown pass in the final 1:49 of regulation—despite five incomplete passes in the series. For the game, the Bears had no sacks on 67 pass attempts. “Very disappointing,” safety Mike Brown said. “We pride ourselves on being a good defense, and defenses don’t let teams score 10 points in six minutes. The reality is, we’re 1-2, and that’s not where we want to be.”

Recommended board games: Trouble, Taboo (“boo” being the operative word) touchdowns and three interceptions in his second straight start.

Recommended board games: Not much you can do about that one, GM Jerry Angelo. That’s “The Game of Life.”

Kyle Orton, who struggled in the first half, orchestrated an 86-yard touchdown drive that ended with a 6-yard pass to Matt Forte. Brandon Lloyd caught the conversion pass to give the Bears a 17-14 lead and added a 19-yard TD that made it a 10-point game midway through the fourth quarter.

Orton was 22-for-34 for 268 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions. Not bad, considering he passed for just 76 yards in the first half, got sacked three times and had one pass intercepted in the end zone by Barrett Ruud and another returned 45 yards by Gaines Adams for a TD.

“I think we kept them off balance a little bit [in the second half],” Orton said. “Basically I think we executed and that’s what it always comes down to, is execution. And I thought we were put in good position all day. We really got it going there for a stretch, we were executing and moving the chains.”

Lloyd had six catches for 124 yards, and Forte caught seven for 66. The rookie also ran for 89 yards on 27 attempts.

The Bears were able to get good field position because of their defense even though Pro Bowl kick returner Devin Hester was sidelined by a rib injury, but they missed several touchdown chances early on.

Chicago took away the run game, holding Warrick Dunn to 31 yards on five carries and Earnest Graham to 16 on 12 attempts. Antonio Bryant caught 10 passes for 138 yards, none bigger than the last one. And Ike Hilliard added six catches and 57 yards with Joey Galloway nursing a sprained foot.

“It was just a great ball and a great catch,” Vasher said, referring to Antonio

Bryant’s 38-yarder. “It was a long game and they made some plays when they needed to.”

That Griese led a late rally was ironic. And just to be clear: He called some plays while others came from the sideline as the Buccaneers made their run.

Why bring that up?

Because Griese found himself in an awkward situation after his finest moment as a Bear last season.

He led Chicago on a 97-yard touchdown drive with no timeouts in the final two minutes of a 19-16 win at Philadelphia and mentioned afterward that he had to call all but the final play because the audio in his helmet wasn’t working. The next day, he was at the podium to clear up a “miscommunication” and say some of the plays were, in fact, called from the sideline.

TRIBUNE CONTRIBUTED.

I’m a-gettin’ nervous

1 Congratulations to the Cubs on clinching the NL Central, and the Tampa Bay Rays, who locked up a playoff spot. Same goes to the Apocalypse, which apparently has arrived early.

Silence is golden

2 I appreciated your enthusiasm Ryan “I think we’re going to win the World Series” Dempster. Wait right here while I get a gag and some duct tape.

Giggle-giggle, ha-ha

3 “Their record represents how good they are. They’re a solid club. Except for their manager.” Obviously Cardinals manager Tony La Russa was joking. But send him a little chin music just in case.

The Buc stops here

4 Brian Griese threw three interceptions at Soldier Field on Sunday. It’s like he never left. Oh, but wait ...

Cryin’ over Brian

5 Then the Bears let Griese march about 80 yards down the field to tie the game at the end of regulation. Looks like our defense never changes either.

Do the robot

6 Was that my imagination or did I see the Fox NFL robot doing the cha cha slide?

Down to earth

7 Looks like Aaron Rodgers’ Hall of Fame induction will have to hold. Just for the week, though.

Computer crash

8 Michigan State officials confiscated a laptop from the Notre Dame coaches’ box Saturday—a violation of NCAA rules. What were you thinking, Fighting Irish? Michigan State doesn’t even allow computers in class!

Card shark

9 Ozzie Guillen says he doesn’t have “an ace.” But the Sox definitely have a Joker.

FIVE WAYS ...

... for Peanut Tillman to make amends

- » Play some receiver
- » Rough up himself
- » Change nickname to “Peabrain”
- » Intercept ... what’s it called again? ... oh, a pass
- » Round of beers for every Bears fan

This week RedEye columnist Elliott Serrano talks to local comic creators on his blog, redeyechicago.com/geektome.

TOPIC	BRIAN MOORE brmoore@tribune.com	JIMMY GREENFIELD jgreenfield@tribune.com	ELLIOTT SERRANO redeyesports@tribune.com	SCOTT KLEINBERG skleinberg@tribune.com	PHILLIP THOMPSON plthompson@tribune.com
1 How did the Bucs come back and beat the Bears?	With a quarterback who can actually run an offense. The Bears should try it. It works.	That's rhetorical, right?	Peanut Tillman forgot the first rule of Fight Club.	I'd say pretty well.	They rode the future Hall of Fame arm of Brian Griese. ... My point exactly.
2 Which Bear needs to stand up and face the music on Monday?	Devin Hester. Get out and play. I don't want to hear about ribs unless you're ordering my lunch.	Whichever one wants to write "The Last Place in the NFC North Shuffle."	Music? Let's talk firing squad.	Lovie for letting Griese go.	The Bear is Peanut Tillman. The music is "Sabotage" by the Beastie Boys.
3 What was the biggest shocker on NFL Sunday?	The complete and utter destruction of the New England dynasty by one man—a Dolphin, no less.	The stunning emergence of Bronko Nagurski as the Eagles featured back.	For some reason I benched Michael Turner on my fantasy football team. AAAAAAAGH!	The Steelers game was shown locally. Woo-hoo!	That Brian left Ronnie Brown on his bench and didn't throw his TV into the Chicago River.
4 Now that the Cubs have clinched, what's left to accomplish this week?	Avoid injuries. Which, thanks to the curse, requires the Cubs to forfeit the rest of the year.	Get the Brewers in the playoffs so the Cubs can open against the Dodgers.	Stock up on Dramamine for the playoffs.	Nothing. That's enough. Let's concentrate on the prize.	Wrap up home field and fire up those goat burgers.
5 How did you celebrate the last game at Yankee Stadium?	I stepped out on my wife. It's the A-Rod way.	I mugged myself.	Just like when they blew up the Death Star, I danced with Ewoks.	With a moment of silence. Baseball is seriously losing a great piece of history.	In honor of Yankee tradition, I removed all body hair.

WHITE SOX 3, ROYALS 0
MAGIC NUMBER: 5

An AL Central title came into clearer focus Sunday for the White Sox after they earned a crisp 3-0 victory over the Royals. The Sox maintained their 2 1/2-game division lead, which they will carry into a three-game showdown at second-place Minnesota starting Tuesday night. The Sox are only 1-5 at the Metrodome this season, but a three-game sweep would secure their second division title in four seasons.

>> An examination Friday by spine specialist Andrew Dossett revealed that 3B Joe Crede still had inflammation in his lower back. Guillen reiterated that he doesn't expect Crede, who has been sidelined since Sept. 2, to play this season.

FC DALLAS 4, FIRE 1

It's not often the Fire gets booed at home, but the Toyota Park crowd seemed to have reached a breaking point Sunday. The Fire lost 4-1 to FC Dallas, stirring up a fan base that was already frustrated over the team's recent inconsistent play. The loss was the Fire's fourth in six games and marked its worst defeat since a 4-0 home loss to Houston in July 2007.

RYDER CUP
We win some ...

The Ryder Cup is coming back to America. The U.S. beat Europe on Sunday to win golf's greatest team prize for the first time since the "Miracle at Brookline" in 1999.

DAVIS CUP
... we lose some

The U.S. reign as Davis Cup champion ended Sunday, with an ailing Rafael Nadal beating Andy Roddick in a straight-sets victory that sent Spain to the final for the sixth time.

CUBS 5, CARDINALS 1

Cubs starter Ryan Dempster picked up his 17th win of the season Sunday at Wrigley Field. AP PHOTO

They've got his backups

A day after the Cubs clinched the NL Central, Ryan Dempster was surrounded by reserves when he took the mound for the regular-season home finale at Wrigley Field.

And that made his team-best 17th victory even more enjoyable after the Cubs beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1 Sunday.

"It's fun to see some guys who haven't had a chance to play a lot do some things. Get some first hits and come up with some RBIs," Dempster said.

Manager Lou Piniella used only one regular in his lineup Sunday but promises to go back to his starters in the final week because the Cubs are playing two wild card contenders, the Mets and Brewers.

Either way, Dempster says, the Cubs aren't going to relax. And they're still closing in on home field advantage throughout the NL playoffs.

"We want to win every game we can. I think going into the playoffs, you want to have some kind of mojo going," Dempster said.

"You want to be playing good baseball and you don't want to let up. Today was a nice off day for a lot of guys, but at the same time, we'll be back at them tomorrow."

Dempster (17-6) worked five innings, giving up six hits and a run. The only regular in the lineup was slumping Kosuke Fukudome, who hit leadoff so he could get more at-bats and try to get out of his funk—he had two hits and also made a strong throw from right field to cut down a run.

The Cubs' Casey McGehee got his first major league hit and had two RBIs off St. Louis starter Braden Loeper (12-14). The Cardinals started the day six games back in the NL wild card race.

CLOSE TO HOME

The Cubs (94-60) are one win away from securing home field advantage in the NL. And that could mean a great deal since they were 55-26 at Wrigley Field this season.

PLAYOFF SCENARIOS

Here's what has to happen for these teams to face the Cubs:

1. Diamondbacks:

They win the West and Milwaukee wins the wild card.

2. Dodgers: They win the West and Milwaukee wins the wild card.

3. Phillies: They take the wild-card spot.

4. Mets: They take the wild-card spot.

Top play

Torrence Washington DB Leigh Torrence caused Arizona QB Kurt Warner's pass to bounce high into the air and into the hands of diving teammate Carlos Rogers. "I knew I was going to deflect it," Torrence said, "but I wasn't sure how." Rogers got to his feet and took off, running 42 yards to the 15-yard line. Two plays later, Santana Moss scored on a 17-yard receiver screen with 12:10 remaining, giving the Washington Redskins a 24-17 victory over the Cardinals. "They got the bounce on that one," Arizona coach Ken Whisenhunt said. "The momentum was kind of in our favor when that play happened. That play hurt."

REDEYE AWARDS

The 'Who's The Man?' Award

Given to Sunday's best veteran performance Sunday was a lot of fun for the Dolphins' Ronnie Brown, who scored on runs of 2, 15, 5 and 62 yards—for a team-record four—and even passed for another touchdown. It wasn't so much fun for the Patriots, who were booed by Foxborough fans as their NFL mark of 21 straight regular-season wins was snapped. "It's brutal, man, brutal," Patriots defensive end Ty Warren said.

The 'Way to Go Rook' Award

Given to the top rookie player Houston rookie Steve Slaton scored his first pro TD on a 6-yard run and had nine carries for 104 yards in the first half with 50 coming on one carry. He finished with 117. Honorable mention to Falcons rookie Curtis Lofton, who stopped Chiefs RB Larry Johnson's left sweep on fourth-and-goal at the 1.

Prime-time parties

Tune into these TV premieres at bars around town

By Lisa Arnett

With the writers' strike busting up our prime-time routine last year, the anticipation for this week's big TV premieres is that much higher. The viewing parties and themed drinks popping up around town not only inspired us to coin a few drinking games, but also find out what real devotees want to know: Will you actually be able to hear the show, or end up re-watching on DVR at home? Here's the scoop on parties launching this week.

'Ugly Betty'

7 p.m. Thursdays at Roscoe's Tavern, 3356 N. Halsted St. 773-281-3355

Will she or won't she? After last season's cliffhanger, fans will gather at this Boystown bar to find out what braces-clad heroine Betty will say to that surprise proposal from her geeky accountant beau Henry.

Drinks: Remember Betty's accidental penchant for appletinis during the first season? Order a $12 Smirnoff appletini pitcher and sip when Wilhelmina dishes out a nasty glare or every time you spot Betty wearing a cardigan.

Set the DVR? Perhaps. If you can't stand to miss a word, you might want a back-up. Though this show is aired in the main bar at full volume, it's not necessarily library quiet—and the TVs are modest in size.

'Heroes'

8 p.m. Mondays at Stretch Run, 544 N. La Salle St. 312-644-4477

First season it was a bomb threat; last season, a virus threatening to decimate the human race. What'll it be this time around for this cast of ordinary people with extraordinary powers? Head to this OTB bar, which switches the screens from the ponies to this popular show.

Drinks: Take a drink of your Sylar Sour ($4.75, made with whiskey, amaretto or Midori and named after the show's prime villain) when characters use their superpowers or every time subtitles appear.

Set the DVR? Yes. Though this is a new viewing party for the bar, based on last year's "Lost" viewings, the background noise here has the potential to distract from the dialogue.

'Dancing With the Stars'

7 p.m. Mondays at Cityscape, 350 W. Mart Center Drive. 312-836-5000

Kim Kardashian and Misty May-Treanor are among the celebs to suit up in faux tans and sequins to shimmy with ballroom dance pros this season. With the show airing from an opulent ballroom, where better to watch than from this luxe, tucked-away hotel bar?

Set the DVR? No. The hush setting here means you should have no problem hearing every sizzling samba beat.

Drinks: Take a sip of your Tango-tini ($8, with X-rated Fusion liqueur and Skyy Passionfruit vodka) when host Tom Bergeron cracks a stale joke, or every time a celeb steps out in a cut-down-to-there backless dress.

'Grey's Anatomy'

8 p.m. Thursdays at Take Five, 3747 N. Southport Ave. 773-871-5555

After the jaw-dropping promos running recently (Rose says she's pregnant?), there's no better place to tune in than this consistently popular viewing party, continuing for the third season in a row. Arrive early; tables fill up a half-hour before the show's start.

Set the DVR? No. The serious watchers here are totally tuned in, so don't dare talk during the show or risk being shushed.

Drinks: Share a half-price bottle of wine with pals and sip every time Meredith whines or Izzie looks exasperated.

LISA ARNETT IS THE METROMIX NIGHTLIFE AND SHOPPING PRODUCER. LARNETT@TRIBUNE.COM

It's not too late...

MONDAY FREEBIE

See stars

Lucille's Bar and Grill, 2470 N. Lincoln Ave. 773-929-0660.

We hate to see talent go to waste. At the weekly Open Mic Mondays, local comic Joe DeLucia makes sure your star qualities don't go unnoticed. Join musicians, comedians and other entertaining types on stage, or just sit back and watch the show. Includes $5 pizzas and $3 cocktails. Sign up at 9 p.m.; open mic starts at 9:30 p.m.

mon 22

Wax rhapsodic

Sonothèque, 1444 W. Chicago Ave. 312-226-7600.

Keep the weekend groove going at the Nomadic Wax African Hip-Hop Showcase, a dance party featuring visiting World Music Festival DJs Boo (Philippines), Baay Bia and Baay Musa (Senegal), M.anifest (Ghana) and Krukid (Uganda). The global crew spins world, Senegalese and African hip-hop. 9 p.m. $10.

Spirited art

The Violet Hour, 1520 N. Damen Ave. 773-252-1500.

Experience some multitasking you can't refuse when The Violet Hour combines art and mixology at the Art of Cocktailing. Choose one of four designs by animation and serigraph artist David Weidman, then watch as local artists silkscreen it onto a complimentary canvas tote bag while you sip specially priced Campari cocktails ($2-$7). 7 p.m. No cover. R.S.V.P. required.

Red alert

Elegant Mr. Gallery, 1355 N. Milwaukee Ave. 847-436-0899.

Monday night goes glam at Threat Level: An Evening of Queer Shorts. The paparazzi may not be there, but a red carpet (crafted out of paper) awaits, so dress to impress for a screening of "La Carona (The Crown)," a 40-minute Academy Award-nominated documentary about a beauty pageant in a Colombian women's prison, plus additional shorts from L.A.-based LGBT filmmakers. 7:30 p.m. $5-$10.

tue 23

Quiz whiz

iO, 3541 N. Clark St. 773-880-0199.

It's cool to be a nerd at Pub Quiz, where two-time "Jeopardy" champion Joey Bland hosts competitions between five-person teams competing in the not-so-trivial pursuit of edible prizes (think food and drinks). Calibrate with $2 drafts and $8 pitchers of PBR, $5 Long Island iced teas and $3 cocktails. 9:30 p.m. No cover.

wed 24

Beers to you

Sheffield's, 3258 N. Sheffield Ave. 773-281-4989.

There's no shame in pairing Miller Lite and dogs at the Friendly Confines or the Cell. But with both teams on the road this week, you can use your extra time to class up your combos at Sheffield's Beer Dinner. Bartending "beer dudes" Phil Kuhl and Brian Moreland team up with California-based North Coast Brewery for a four-course meal in the new Beer School Bar. Menu items include grilled ahi tuna with yucca fries, pineapple chutney and lemon cream paired with the brewery's La Merle, a Belgian style farmhouse ale. 7 p.m. $50. Reservations required: beers2u@gmail.com

Jackson AP

Jackson hits the road with futuristic look, show 'for the fans'

Los Angeles Daily News

The singer responsible for the most notorious "wardrobe malfunction" in history had a pithy response when asked what she would be wearing on stage for her first tour in seven years.

"Clothes," deadpanned Janet Jackson, whose Rock Witchu Tour comes to Allstate Arena on Thursday.

Jackson, who achieved a different type of fame when her breast was exposed during a halftime duet with Justin Timberlake during the 2004 Super Bowl halftime show, elaborated. Slightly.

"There are about nine changes in the show, and, I might add, these are full changes. I'm doing a couple of things I've never done before," Jackson said. "Normally when you undress, you do very quick changes because you have on a segment of your next costume underneath. We're not doing that."

"So we'll have very quick, hard changes. It's about the hardest show we've ever done. The costumes for the show, as far as that goes—I'm very intrigued with the future. (The look) has a taste of that."

Rock Witchu is Jackson's first time on the road since her All for You tour in 2001. She had hoped to go out after the release of "20 Y.O." but scratched those plans when her new label, Island Def Jam, asked her to concentrate on bringing out the 2008 album, "Discipline."

The current tour is "for the fans," Jackson said. Look, content and set list are determined with the help of listener input.

"I have a call-in number for fans, and they can leave me messages, and I'll leave a message or speak to them directly," the 42-year-old singer said. "I've asked them what they'd like to see, what they'd like to hear and what they want. This is what I'm trying to give them."

The two-hour show will be dance-heavy, she added. "A lot of the dancers have said it shouldn't be called 'Rock Witchu.' It should be called 'The History of Dance.'"

Janet on ...

Favorite and influential performances she has seen live: "Watching my brothers growing up, the Jacksons, Prince, The Time." A "Rock Witchu" tie-in DVD: "We've been talking about it. I don't want to say too much, but maybe something for TV or on DVD. There's the possibility of putting past stuff I've done together and putting it on DVD, stuff not previously seen. Just a nice package for the fans."

Her opening act, LL Cool J: "He's an icon in his own right. I wanted someone who could really entertain the people. He's an entertainer and a really sweet guy. That's really important to me. It's about getting along." L.A. DAILY NEWS

Reality breakdown

Tina Fey, Amy Poehler, Ricky Gervais save Emmys from reality TV hosts

By Curt Wagner
REDEYE

Reality hosts emceed the Emmy awards on Sunday, but the show would have completely bombed without Tina Fey.

The "30 Rock" creator, writer and actress offered some of the best moments of the night.

"I want to thank my parents for giving me confidence disproportionate to my looks and abilities," Fey said after winning for best comedy actress in "30 Rock." Fey also won a writing award, and "30 Rock" won best comedy.

Earlier Fey and Amy Poehler offered the first real laughs of the 60th annual Primetime Emmy Awards when they presented the award for supporting actor in a comedy. Fey asked a pregnant Poehler when she was due to have her baby.

"How dare you," Poehler said. "I've gained weight for a role."

They created the first laughs in a show that started off slowly with Oprah Winfrey talking glowingly about TV. Then the five hosts—Ryan Seacrest, Tom Bergeron, Heidi Klum, Howie Mandel and Jeff Probst—came out dressed in similar suits. They rambled on and on until Bergeron and William Shatner ripped off Klum's suit to reveal hot pants.

"What if I just kept talking for 12 minutes, what would happen? That was the opening."

JEREMY PIVEN

poking fun at the rambling Emmy opening by the five reality TV hosts also hosting the ceremony

Presenter Ricky Gervais took the comedy baton from Fey and Poehler, and for a few minutes a very boring show soared. After watching a montage of Emmy speeches, including Gervais' win last year when he was not there to accept and Steve Carell took his award, Gervais demanded the award from a stone-faced Carell.

"I made you what you are and I get nothing back," he told Carell. "Have you been to see 'Ghost Town' yet? I sat through 'Evan Almighty.' Give me my Emmy."

Gervais went off stage, then tickled, kicked and berated Carell until he got his Emmy back.

The show's theme was 60 years of TV, and clips from old series often upstaged what was happening in the present. The embarrassment might have been greatest for Josh Groban, who goofed his way through a performance of several TV theme songs including "South Park," "Cops," "Fresh Prince of Bel-Air" and "Two and a Half Men."

Simon Cowell would say Groban's performance was as cheesy as a cruise ship concert. That would be appropriate, since Groban also covered the "Love Boat" theme.

The reality hosts redeemed themselves, sort of. Jimmy Kimmel presented the first-ever award for best reality TV show host, making them wait to learn who won. "The winner is going to be revealed ... when we come back after this break," Kimmel said.

Probst of "Survivor" won the award. CWWAGNER@TRIBUNE.COM

Carpet clash

Actresses attending Sunday's Emmy awards wore just about every color under the rainbow, from fuschia to canary yellow to black-and-white printed gowns. But not everyone wore the colors well. Red-Eye picks what was hot and what was a hot mess.

Keener

Conrad

Black

Catherine Keener stood out with her sleek and sexy two-piece suit. "Designer" Lauren Conrad's uninspiring column of a dress will fail to gain her ANY new clients.

Green

Christina Hendricks, from "Mad Men," showed all the right curves with her form-fitting gown. Jenna Fischer's dress, on the other hand, looked like someone threw up a McDonald's Shamrock Shake all over her.

White

A study in opposites: Olivia Wilde of "House" looked angelic in her gown. Jennifer Love-Hewitt's dress looked like it was invaded by demonic snakes that made a nest in her hair.

Yellow

Mariska Hargitay was a radiant goddess in her canary yellow gown. Teri Hatcher's ill-placed ruffles gave her a Big Bird look.

Blue

Mary-Louise Parker's gown melted onto her body perfectly. For Emilie de Ravin of "Lost," shrinky-dinks were the "it" accessory.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO ...

Virgo

Aug. 23-Sept. 22
You're feeling domestic, and you're eager to create a comfortable nest with your partner. Saturn is inspiring you to upgrade your decor or clean out old items from your home. Team up with your honey and create a more pleasant living space.

GET US ON YOUR PHONE

Need your horoscopes but don't have your RedEye nearby? Just head to redeye.chicago.com on your mobile phone.

Libra

Sept. 23-Oct. 23

With the sun rolling into your sign, you're finding it easy to attract sexy friends. You could find it difficult choosing just one partner from this tempting smorgasbord of possibilities. Dating several cuties at once could be the best strategy.

Scorpio

Oct. 24-Nov. 21

Sometimes all you want is sex. Right now, you're through with talking about your issues, being a good listener and working to improve the relationship. The moon has you in a raw, lusty mood. Enough talk. You want more action.

Sagittarius

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Fire signs collect friends easily, and this week you could get close to someone special. The moon is stirring up some flirtation, so it might be hard to keep things platonic. You'll have to decide whether you want to be pals or bedroom buddies.

Capricorn

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Your honey finally could be learning how to understand you better. Positive Jupiter is bringing a spirit of healing and compatibility to your relationship. You'll find it easier to get along with your honey. Isn't it nice when things are going smoothly?

Aquarius

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

A bouncy sun is helping you to make a strong impression on someone. If you've been pursuing a cute guy, you'll find it easy to catch his attention this week. If you've set your sights on a gorgeous girl, she'll finally notice you.

Pisces

Feb. 19-March 20

Sometimes you need to trust your instincts more. A moon opposition has you questioning every choice you've ever made about romance. But they weren't all bad decisions. In fact, if you listen to your intuition better, you'll avoid future problems with love.

Aries

March 21-April 19

As the sun moves opposite your sign, you're wondering if you should give up on love. Your last boyfriend turned up on "America's Most Wanted." The girl you wanted to marry joined the Peace Corps to get away from you. Cheer up. Things will look brighter next month.

Taurus

April 20-May 20

Earth signs love stability. That's why your current romantic situation is driving you nuts. One day it's on, the next day it's off. Jupiter is reminding you that sometimes hot chemistry with someone simply isn't enough.

Gemini

May 21-June 21

Mars is putting you in a forgiving mood. So what if your girlfriend threw out your favorite college sweat shirt? Who cares if your boyfriend called your closest female friend a fat loser? You're feeling so fine that none of it matters.

Cancer

June 22-July 22

Sometimes you're shy about making your desires known, but Venus is making you bold. Instead of mooning over that cute girl, you'll work up the nerve to ask her out. Instead of complaining that no guys want to date you, you'll flirt with the hottie you really want.

Leo

July 23-Aug. 22

Your partner could be dying for some variety in the bedroom. A Venus square is reminding you to spice things up. Try some role-playing. A sweaty round could put you both in a frisky mood.

it just doesn't scream Hollywood-caliber excitement). Surely they're more exciting than the tabloids would have readers believe, right? To answer that question, we'll have to dust off RedEye's Snooze Monitor. Enjoy!

Obama's infinite playlist

Democratic presidential nominee Barack Obama has gotten another boost of star power, this time in the form of a soundtrack featuring a slew of hit makers, according to The Associated Press.

The CD, titled "Yes We Can: Voices of a Grassroots Movement," features Kanye West, John Legend, Sheryl Crow and Stevie Wonder. It will be available for sale exclusively through Obama's campaign starting Friday.

Proceeds from the CD ($24.99 for a digital download, $30 for a physical product) will help fund Obama's campaign until Election Day, the AP reports.

Mad for fashion

It sounds like Jon Hamm has a passion for fashion. "He's got a good eye," the "Mad Men" star's girlfriend, Jennifer Westfeldt, tells People.com. "You'd be surprised." Hamm was more modest about his hand in helping Westfeldt select a dress. He said that he just gave his opinion. "You know, I'm not qualified to make the decision on those levels," he joked.

Thanks, mom and dad

Mary-Louise Parker's favorite fans? Her parents. The four-time Emmy nominee and "Weeds" star told People before Sunday's Emmy awards that she likes to celebrate her success with her folks. "The best part is my parents," she told the magazine on Saturday. "I get to call them if they don't know already, but usually they know before me. That's absolutely the best part."

Aniston—she's just so lovely

Jennifer Aniston no doubt knows a thing or two about sitcom comedy—and she apparently showed it during the taping of her guest appearance on “30 Rock.”

“It was really fantastic. It was impressive. We were all taking notes,” Jack McBrayer, who plays Kenneth the page, tells People magazine.

The former “Friends” actress seems to have made quite the impression on the cast.

“I think we are all star-struck with her,” McBrayer said. “She’s such a pro, and she was just so lovely to be around.”

Michael: Sorry I’m boring you

Whoops! He did it again.

George Michael apologized to his fans Sunday for “screwing up again.”

Though Michael didn’t talk about an arrest for drug possession—a story that was reported by Britain’s Sunday newspapers and Britain’s Press Association—it appeared the former Wham! front-man was referring to reports that he had been cautioned by police.

“I want to apologize to my fans for screwing up again, and to promise them I’ll sort myself out,” he said in a statement distributed by his publicists. Michael added: “And to say sorry to everybody else, just for boring them.”

On to the theater!

Since the birth of his son Zuma, rocker Gavin Rossdale says, life has been good.

There’s just one thing: He doesn’t have time for the movies. It’s “a shame,” he writes on his MySpace page. “Must get to the cinema.”

Rossdale and wife Gwen Stefani welcomed Zuma Nesta Rock Rossdale last month. Their other son, Kingston, is 2.

The ‘Insider’ ouster

The man who helped start “The Insider” is suddenly on the outside looking in.

Pat O’Brien has left the celebrity gossip show in the wake of scathing e-mails he sent to staffers of “The Insider” and “Entertainment Tonight” criticizing his co-hosts, according to people.com.

In the e-mail obtained by the New York Post, O’Brien wrote that fans he met in Iowa were concerned about real-life issues such as food and gas. He added that watching host “Lara [Spencer] pick out accessories makes the viewers want to vomit.”

A rep for the show called O’Brien a “talented broadcaster” in a statement.

Time to get D-listed

Watch out, Ryan Seacrest. Kathy Griffin has your number.

The star of “My Life on the D-List” said she wanted to bring her trophy from the Creative Arts Emmys to the Primetime Emmys on Sunday. “I know it will look tacky and I’m not supposed to, but I really want to,” she joked to usmagazine.com. “I want to throw [it] at Ryan Seacrest for no other reason.”

Mariska Hargitay was a radiant goddess in her canary yellow gown. Teri Hatcher's ill-placed ruffles gave her a Big Bird look.

Mary-Louise Parker's gown melted onto her body perfectly. For Emilie de Ravin of "Lost," shrinky-dinks were the "it" accessory.
